

UK bingo site comparisons

Posted by henricborth - 2010/03/09 21:59

Hi everyone. I've posted this thread so we can all provide new members detailed information about several UK bingo sites, particularly the ones that we are in favor with :]

to start the fire, I'll go first :p

well my favorite bingo site and the site that I mostly suggest to new players is bingotime, here's why:

1. the site has a user-friendly interface, it's easy-to-navigate, one advantage that can really attract newbies.
2. easy to register and bonuses upon registrations are good.
3. trustworthy, with their long list of promotion winners it proves that they value their members as well as how they value their business.
4. pro-gamer environment of the bingo site, and not pro-business. clearly evident through the website's layout, there's not much advertisement banners on the website.
5. no users have been complaining about the site, and most of the members are satisfied.

what's yours? I want to here from all of you guys :D I'll be glad to see some competition around here. feel free to add something, criticize, suggest or whatever you like to call it :] thanks!
