There is often a "FREE SPACE" in the center of the card. All players receive this space, and can be used as part of a winning card. This is common knowledge. Players who don't take advantage of the free space are just dumb if it costs them the game, especially ME'sBingo is a gambling card game named by analogy to the game bingo. Each player is dealt X cards and Y cards are dealt face down in common. The value of each hand is the sum of the values of each card, where the cards have blackjack values. The cards on the board are gradually revealed with opportunities to bet along the way. Bingo is usually played high-low with the pot being split between the players with the highest and lowest point totals. The exception would be if one player loses all his cards he takes the entire pot.

One example of play is "Sixty Six Bingo Video Poker
