

75 Ball Bingo Game

Posted by Cooper - 2009/05/26 00:00

<http://www.bunnybingo.com/blog/wp-content/themes/bunny-bingo-3column/images/h-75-ball-bingo.gif>

Here is the British variation on the American 75 Ball Bingo game, but rather than chasing a pattern, you have 5 chances to fill your lines!

Each ticket has 25 squares filled with numbers, other than the centre square, which has a star. The first prize is given to the person filling 1 line, either diagonally, vertically or horizontally. The next prize is given for 2 lines, then 3, then 4 and finally 5 lines or House! Each of these subsequent prizes are given for horizontal lines only.

Play Now!

Re: 75 Ball Bingo Game

Posted by tanu - 2010/03/18 18:54

It must be interesting but i dont know to play this one..is it same as simple bingo!

Re:75 Ball Bingo Game

Posted by donaldbeckon - 2010/09/01 17:59

This game is played with cards, picture cards usually containing 24 numbers, the number of the center is empty and is a toll free number, or a wild life. Called numbers are obviously between 1 to 75. The caller calls the numbers that appear at random, and the player daubs the number on your card. The winner of the game is the first player to complete the pattern on your card.
